Less Invasive Procedures Drive Today's Cosmetic Surgery

With a shift towards less invasive cosmetic surgery procedures for the breast, body and face, educated patients are seeking out the services of double board-certified plastic surgeon Dr. Michael Nagy. "Patients want less downtime and quicker recoveries," says Nagy. "And with today's technologies, we can give them beautiful, natural-looking results without the recovery time of traditional plastic surgery."

Michael Nagy MD, FACS.

Nagy offers cutting-edge procedures including VASER®, a precise sculpting tool that uses ultrasound technology for improved liposuction results. He also uses Vectra® 3-D imaging to help set realistic expectations for patients considering breast augmentation. This, combined with a personal approach to care, has driven his thriving Ocean County practice to Wall (Monmouth County) to accommodate a broader range of patients. In fact, Nagy is the 2010 American Cancer Society's Volunteer of the Year for his dedication to breast cancer reconstruction.

Stop Hair Loss With New and Proven Laser Treatment

If you are among the 30 million women who suffer from the devastating effects of hair loss or thinning hair, Guci Image in Paramus has the solution. New and innovative laser technology can effectively treat early-stage hair loss. This cold beam laser therapy requires no drugs or surgery and has been proven to stop hair loss progression in 85 percent of patients.

Guci Image is one of the largest full-service hair loss centers in the country and provides state-of-the-art treatment for everything from minor enhancements to advanced hair loss. According to Joseph Lore, president and CEO of Guci Image, Rogaine and Minoxidil are a thing of the past.
